Fritz Allis

Fritz Is Retiring Historically

By Linda S. Corbett

When "Fritz" Allis settles into the book-studded corner of antique Farrar House, to ramble on per his "pedagogical tendency," the 200 years of Phillips Academy begin to come alive.

After all, Allis has spent nearly 50 of those years on the Andover campus himself, and his place in its annals is happily secure.

Allis's 770-page book, "Youth From Every Quarter: A Bicentennial History of Phillips Academy-Andover," arrived fresh from the presses this week, and he will be guest of honor Saturday at an autograph party at the Andover Book Store.

He will also be feted May 31 by the Memorial Hall Library trustees as he retires from years on that board as well as from the school business, to move to Back Bay and do more writing and editing.

While he's long been interested in Phillips Academy's heritage, Allis says he had never really planned to write such a voluminous work until he was approached by newly-appointed headmaster Ted Sizer in March of 1972. Sizer hadn't actually stepped into his new post, Allis says, but was already planning ahead to the school's Bicentennial. He asked Allis, then head of the history department, to do the book.

Though he knew a lot about the school's history and had written articles on the subject, Allis (Frederick S. Allis, Jr.) essentially started from scratch and "chewed into the research business."

His class load was made lighter and his summers more free to allow him time in the archives and at the typewriter, but Allis didn't want to give up teaching altogether, because that's what he loves to do most.

He says he couldn't write more than two to three hours at a stretch anyway, and that walking into the classroom offered a welcome relief from the "lonely business of writing."

He adds that he also couldn't have written without the help of Kent cigarettes, with which he rewarded

School Heads Take Issue With Charges By FinCom

The school committee and administration Tuesday night took issue with comments of "mismanagement" by members of the finance committee during town meeting, and determined to establish financial policy to avoid such problems in the future.

The committee then voted to notify the FinCom they'll be asking for a transfer of $120,000 from the reserve fund to cover unexpected expenses that have occurred this year.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert told the committee he had held up all purchase orders pending a policy statement from them. If they have to encumber the extra expenses, he said, 95 percent of the purchases planned for the remainder of the year will have to be ignored, or funds will have to be switched from one account to another, a practice that was criticized by the finance committee.

Seifert explained that the overages are largely due to circumstances over which the schools had little control, and include $60,000 for increased Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage, $40,000 for special ed and $20,000 for architectural fees for the Ban-

Fire Dept., Town Reach Accord

By Robert E. Finneran
Editor

Andover firefighters and the town have reached agreement on a new two-year contract which will provide a seven per cent increase this year and a six per cent hike in 1980.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said the new contract will take effect July 1.

Currently salary range for a private is $12,296 to $14,519 over a five year period. Under terms of the new contract, the salary range will be $13,156 to $15,535.

The town manager said that agreement was reached on Tuesday and that language of the contract will be worked on before formal signing in a week or two.

The negotiating sessions between the union and the town, described as amicable by Clark, were carried out without benefit of counsel for the first time in several years. Fire Chief William T. Downs and the town manager negotiated for the town, while firefighters were represented by Jack Beanland, Arthur Poulin, Jim Landry and Robert Demers.

There were ten negotiating sessions dating back to January.

Clark said Tuesday that the matter had reached a stage of going to mediation but the committee for the union and the town, made some compromises, thus averting bringing in the outside party to assist in reaching agreement.

The manager said that in agreeing to the new contract, firefighters had basically recognized the fiscal austerity mood of the town. In view of the rate of inflation, the union and the town saw that any new provisions should be applied to the rate of compensation, rather than in fringe benefits, thus the seven per cent cost of living increase this year.

Clark added that the increase probably would not meet the inflation rate.

The second year provisions for a six per cent adjustment, plus some fringe benefits will face town meeting for implementation and will thus place the town's budgetary position slightly outside the

Seifert said that one of the most discouraging moments in his 10 years in Andover occurred at town meeting when a member of the finance committee hinted at "mismanagement" in the schools. Seifert said there was also scuttlebutt in the community that the schools were deliberately holding down the maintenance work to let buildings fall apart.

"As dollars get tighter," he went on, "we'll see misunderstanding and allegations through the years," and he asked the school committee for a policy so they'd be covered in the future.

Seniors Out On Good Behavior

Some two-thirds of the seniors, out of a class of 460, took advantage of the early release program and ended their high school careers last Friday.

The program was instituted this year for seniors who have had good attendance, good behavior and good academic records.

Principal Philip Wormwood said attendance was much improved this year as a result and that he hasn't picked up any resentment on the part of those seniors left behind in class.

They will all return for graduation ceremonies June 6, to receive their diplomas.

Outdoor Ed Organizer Honored

Maurice Ferris, who has been very much involved in the outdoor education program in Andover, has received the Allis Chalmers Education Award.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said that Ferris, known as "Capt. Seashore" at Doherty School, will not represent Andover and the Merrimack Valley in national competition.

Ferris is "very, very deserving," Seifert said.

CBD Hearing Scheduled

The Central Business Committee, a committee of the Andover Planning Board, will hold a meeting May 29 at 7:30 p.m. at East Jr. High cafeteria. The purpose of the meeting is to elicit public opinion concerning the future planning and development of the Central Business District. The public is encouraged to attend.

Blood Pressure Screening On Friday

The month of May 1979 is National High Blood Pressure month. The Community Development Department-Andover Board of Health is sponsoring a free blood pressure clinic Friday, May 25, 12-2 p.m. at Andover Savings Bank, 61 Main St., Andover and Arlington Trust Co., Shawsheen Plaza.

A periodic blood pressure check for every member of the family can help avoid serious health problems and save lives. A registered nurse will take blood pressure and provide free information, counseling and referral if necessary.

To Discuss Postal Service

George Walker, regional manager of the U.S. Post Office, is scheduled to meet with the board of selectmen Tuesday, May 29 at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall library.

He will be there to answer questions about the slower mail delivery to Andover since the construction of a central sorting station in Lawrence.

To Seek Vehicle For Haven

The Haven will keep its station wagon on the road for another year and look for someone to give them a new one in the meantime, as suggested by the board of selectmen Monday night.

Selectman James Abramson was opposed to replacing the seven-year-old Haven vehicle with a retired police cruiser as suggested by Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark who said the repair bills on the station wagon were getting high. Abramson suggested that a business or industry might be interested in donating a new wagon as a tax write-off, and the rest of the board agreed that possibility should be explored.

Exchange Club Plans Cookout

The Andover Exchange Club's first "Family Cook-out" will be held on Memorial Day, May 28, at the Colonial parking lot located at the corner of Main Street and Railroad Street. The festivities will commence immediately after the completion of the town's annual Memorial Day parade, and will continue until 6 p.m.

To be sure inclement weather doesn't dampen spirits, the family cook-out will be held under a large open tent. Chicken, hot dogs, hamburgs and salads will be the featured foods. Soft drinks, wine and beer will be served for refreshments.

Proceeds from the event will be used to support the club's charitable endeavors.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 24, 25, 26, the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2128 and its Ladies Auxiliary will be selling their annual Buddy Poppies. All proceeds from sales are used for bringing sunshine to our hospitalized veterans of all wars.

'Not So Peaceful Here' Seifert Reports

"Peaceful Andover is not as peaceful as the community might think," Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert told the school committee Tuesday night, and said he would be coming forward soon with a policy regarding suspensions for inappropriate behavior.

The subject came up via a letter from a parent regarding the theft of some of his son's personal property at the high school.

Committeeman John Eaton said he got the feeling that "vandalism and theft are a prevalent thing," and said one youth at West was "pretty badly cut up" recently by firecrackers exploding in a glass jar.

He said he thought the community ought to be made more aware of the problems in the schools and what the schools are doing to pursue them.

Seifert said it would be good to have the administration and staff come forward on a daily basis with a report of problems, and added that they do not have enough legal fortification to follow up on all cases.

Committeeman Joseph Finn said he had intended to bring this subject up when the committee discusses the direction letter, beginning at their June 5 meeting.

"People seem to think that either this is Camelot, or that the administration is doing nothing to curtail the activities," he said.

"The entire subject needs to be aired."

Energy Saving Program To Be Introduced

The school committee Tuesday night took the first step toward an energy conservation program that could save the town $3000 next year, but some $15,000 a year thereafter.

The plan presented by Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert calls for a hook-up of the high school to a computer in Cambridge that's monitored 24 hours a day. If the temperature in any area of the school rises above a certain level, a call will come immediately back to Andover.

Seifert said the high school is a good place to start because it's all electric and is already divided into heating zones.

He said the program is in effect at North Andover High School, where Supt. Peter Garafoli claims some $60,000 in savings over the past three years, and at the Greater Lawrence Voke School, which has saved more than $70,000.

Seifert estimated savings at Andover High will be $25,000 a year. With the original connection cost of $11,000, and the $9,100 in annual service charges, the net savings the first year will be in the area of $3,000, and in coming years, the net would be closer to $15,000.

Seifert said the Honeywell Co. tends to be conservative in its estimates, and that in most cases elsewhere, the savings have been even greater than anticipated. In addition, he said, Andover, the VoTech and North Andover can save by sharing telephone costs.

Committeeman Alan Doerr said it was a "fantastic concept" that has been used in a lot of large chain department stores across the country, and Casimir Kolaski said it has been used in government housing projects. The only negatives he's heard, he said, are in old buildings where the heating system isn't efficient to begin with.

High School Principal Philip Wormwood added that the base temperature at night would be 62, and during the day, 67 to 68.

"Why should we sit in our homes at 60 to 62 degrees," asked School Chairman Elaine Viehmann, "when our schools are so much warmer. I realize the kids are sitting still," she said, "but they can learn to get out their long johns and sweaters."

She added that building temperatures "need to be part of the committee's policy for next year — cold."

Hosts Sought For Spanish Students

A few more homes are needed for students from Spain who are coming July 9 to spend four weeks in the Andover area.

These junior high and high school age students will be here under the auspices of the American Institute for Foreign Study. They will attend morning classes at Andover High and participate in afternoon field trips at least three days a week.

Host families will be asked to provide room and board and include the visitor in the normal family routine. The host family receives a partial scholarship for a member of its family to travel overseas the following year on an AIFS program.

Interested families may contact Sue Stephens, 13 Summer St., Andover.

A National Highway Traffic Safety Administration study shows the chance of fatal head injury appears to be at least four times greater for the motorcyclist not wearing a helmet compared with the cyclist wearing head gear.

Boston Ballet Entertains Andover Sixth Graders

What do plies, pirouettes, a pas de deux, a pas de trois and 480 Andover sixth grade students have in common? The answer is a cultural experience of a most innovative kind.

The Boston Ballet is stepping into town this week with a unique presentation and day-in-residence program for the students, sponsored by the Malden Cooperative Bank at Andover as part of its ongoing "Cultural Enrichment Program" in conjunction with the Andover Public Schools.

Scheduled for today and tomorrow, the Boston Ballet's special Company Too! troupe of 19 young dancers, under the direction of the Ballet's resident choreographer Ron Cunningham, will be performing at West End Elementary Auditorium at 10 a.m. each day.

Company Too! performances are designed as to introduce ballet to elementary and high school students by young dancers, many of whom were students at the Boston School of Ballet, and not much older than their student audiences. Some of the Boston Ballet's top dancers have come from this troupe.

Company Too's! repertoire for the two-day Andover presentations includes "Hoedown," a lively square dance done to traditional American Folk music; "The Minkus Suite," a classical piece featuring a pas de deux and a pas de trois; "Peasant Pas de Deux" a romantic dance for two from the first act of Gisell, and "A Tale of Peter Rabbit."

The students are being bused to West, as arranged by the Banks.

Following each presentation the students will be bused back to their respective schools for a one-hour informal lunch with the performers. Then the dancers will make class visitations.

According to Edward R. Marston, president of the Malden Cooperative Bank at Andover, "these class visitations are a highlight of the Ballet series for the student, in that they will give them the chance to discuss first hand with the performers what it is like to be a dancer, both professionally and apart from the job — such as the demands on dancers because of their career choice, their particular dedication to the art, and the type of study it requires to be a dancer."

The in-class discussions will also revolve around the many aspects of ballet as a cultural art form, and they will include question and answer periods.

The dancers will be at Bancroft, Doherty and Shawsheen schools today, and at West, Sanborn and South schools tomorrow.

Other presentations being sponsored as part of the "Cultural Enrichment Program," under the overall umbrella of the Malden Cooperative Bank at Andover include The Youth Symphony Concerts each Fall and Winter at Symphony Hall,

Boston. The Bank will provide bus transportation for students in grades 4 to 9 as well as classical recordings of the musical works presented in the concerts.

Kolaski Lauds Sullivan On Dropping Salary

School Committeeman Casimir Kolaski Tuesday night asked the Selectmen to give favorable consideration to cutting their own salaries.

In the spirit of "giving credit where credit's due," and "as an unpaid elected official," he lauded Selectman Larry Sullivan for suggesting that the Selectmen forego their annual stipends of $800 each ($1000 for the chairman).

He said that costs the town a total of $4200 a year and he doesn't believe necessary, whereas "we (the school committee) were urged on by the selectmen to cut actual services that people get a benefit from."

"I don't believe this town needs a class of paid political parasites," he said, and added that he didn't believe the expenses of an elected town official actually add up to $800 to $1000 a year.

Sullivan suggested Monday night that selectmen's salaries be phased out by fiscal year 1983.

Sullivan said selectmen get paid about 15 cents per hour for their time, and called the salary an honorarium. Crediting the money to the selectmen's budget for special studies and other work would be a better use of the funds, he said.

Selectmen Abramson agreed with the proposal, but the rest of the board said they would vote against it when it comes up for a vote next Tuesday.

W.J.H. Happenings

By Kim Byrne

On Tuesday, May 15, the Andover West Girl's Track Team beat East in a home meet for the first time in five years. Davynne Williams set a new school record for the 100-yard dash, with a time of 12 seconds. She broke teammate Marsha Cummings' record of 12.2 seconds. Marsha Cummings tied the school record in the 220 yard dash with a time of 28 seconds. The girls' record is now 4-0. The boys' record is now 7-0.

A lot of preparations are underway for the Annual Open House and Spring Show. The student government has again made arrangements for the annual WESTern Bar-B-Que. Students have also started extra-credit projects to be put on display at the Educational Round-Up.

In the music department, Mr. Gould and Mrs. Bernardin are busily getting the show together. Some of the specialty acts include the following soloists: Carole Balin, "Honey Bun"; Elise Balboni, "Happy Talk"; Jessica Balboni, "Cockeyed Optimist"; Mary Melia, "Wonderful Guy"; and Amy Lowe will perform "Bali Hai." Anja Grant and Tom MacDonald will perform "Twin Soliloquies."

Few Passengers

In 1927, the year of Lindbergh's first trans-oceanic flight, all the airlines in the U.S. owned a combined total of 28 planes. If every one of those planes had been in the air simultaneously with all of their seats occupied, the grand total of people aloft would have been 128.

Expert stilt walkers used to be able to travel as fast as a horse could trot. The footrests they used were often five or six feet above the ground.

Special Hours At Center

Due to the anticipated low blood collections characteristic of long holiday week-ends, the Red Cross Blood Donor Center, located on the grounds of the Bon Secours Hospital in Methuen, will have special openings over the Memorial Day week-end.

In addition to the regular donor hours of 9:30 - 5 on Monday and Friday and 1:30 - 9 on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the center will be open on Saturday, May 26 and Memorial Day, Monday, May 28 from 9:30 - 5.

The Red Cross Blood Services urges anyone that is able to donate to do so over the holiday week-end in order to avoid a potential blood shortage.

High School Counselors In Training

The Andover High School Peer Counselor's Program held a two-day training institute at Rolling Ridge on May 13 and 14. More than 35 students participated in the training, all present peer counselors.

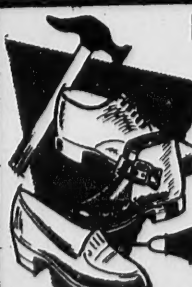

The institute was the culmination of 20 weeks of training in counseling skills. Activities of the peer counselors included operation of a center at Andover High, as well as individual and group counseling. These High School peer counselors are also working with younger students at West Jr. High, East Jr. High, Bancroft, West Elementary and Doherty Schools.

Training sessions during the institute were led by both students and staff. Role playing, small group discussion, leadership exercises and meeting presentations were all included in the program.

The two-day institute was coordinated by three student peer counselors, Luan Giannone, Kevin Peters and Brian Cormier. The counselors are trained and supervised by Howard Sherman, Andover High School adjustment counselor.

Performance At Academy

By H. L. Silets

Final rehearsals have been taking place this week in order to prepare the Phillips Academy Chorus, student dancers, instrumentalists, and soloists for the performances of Henry Purcell's famous opera "Dido and Aeneas." The event will take place at Phillips Academy on May 25 and 26 at 8 p.m. in Cochran Chapel.

Two local students will perform major roles of the witches in the opera; Suzanne Tanner, a sophomore from Andover and Laura Feigenbaum, a junior from Haverhill.

The production is under the direction of William Thomas, chairman of the Phillips Academy Music Department. Featured soloists will be Margaret Johnson, soprano, and Jack Zamboni, tenor, in the roles of Dido and Aeneas.

"Dido and Aeneas" was originally adapted by Purcell from Vergil's Aeneid. To the original story Purcell added witches, sorcerers, and a sailor's drinking song. Dating from 1689, the Baroque work is one of the earliest operas still performed today.

The colorful and dramatic production will also be enhanced by a faculty ensemble performance of additional music by Purcell during the intermission.

Cong. Shannon's Mobile Office Due Tomorrow

Congressman James M. Shannon says that when his Mobile Office visits Andover tomorrow, a new program of community participation will be in effect. Representatives of the League of Women Voters will be present to discuss issues which they have researched and on which they may have material for distribution. "We are launching an expanded community partnership, utilizing Congressional Mobile Office space in the service of community public interest projects," Shannon said.

The Mobile Office will be parked at the Town Hall on Main Street from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. It is designed to supplement the services available to Fifth District residents through the main office in Lowell at 352 Merrimack St. and the Lawrence office at 11 Lawrence St. It is one facet of the Shannon Outreach Program which also includes Open Forum Town Meetings in every community, Elderly Outreach visits, and special events or conferences.

Shannon expressed his hope that constituents will take advantage of the services of the Mobile Office. "Staff people will be available to provide assistance as necessary in dealing with governmental agencies. 'I hope,' the Congressman continued, 'that citizens will utilize the Mobile Office, not only when they require such assistance, but also when they wish to discuss issues of concern or to communicate their views.'

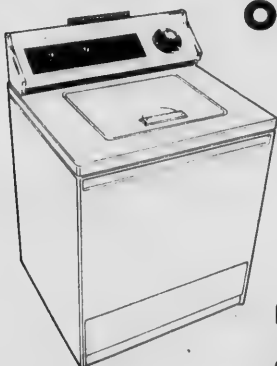

Accredited

Choate Memorial Hospital has been fully accredited for two years by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), according to Paul L. Downey, president.

This accreditation is the result of an on-site survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program (HAP) last year. Accreditation indicates that this facility has chosen to operate according to standards set by JCAH and that the facility has, in the main, met these standards.

Rename Media Center To Honor Mrs. DeCesare

The school committee Tuesday night approved the renaming of the West Jr. High media center in honor of Ansi DeCesare, who is retiring after 34 years of teaching.

Committee Chairman Elaine Viehmann moved they respond to the request made by members of the West faculty. Mrs. DeCesare, she said, "has been a leader in helping develop curriculum and training young teachers, as well as training young minds."

Committeeman Casimir Kolaski agreed it was "nice to thank people for things they've done while they're still around," and his colleagues unanimously agreed.

The committee also will be sending letters of appreciation to five long-time employees, whose retirements they approved Tuesday. Dorothy Daily, a clerk in the media processing center, has been with the system since February, 1969; Jeanne Danforth, a business education teacher at the high school, taught from 1949 to 1956, and then returned in September of 1965; Jennie (Jane) Scholtz, secretary to the principal at South School has been an employee since 1962; George Schwedler, junior custodian at East Jr. High, has been with the system since 1970 and Mildred Spinney, secretary in the West Jr. High guidance department, began working for the schools in 1958.

Fencing With An Issue

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 24, 1979

The merits of building a fence behind Andover high to keep students from setting fires and vandalizing homes on Indian Ridge will be considered by the school committee at their June 5 meeting.

At school committee meeting Tuesday night, chairman Elaine Viehmann called as much input as possible from residents of the area, either by coming to the June meeting or by sending letters.

Karen Harris, Beverly Perkins and Joanna Wragg, whose Standish Circle homes are hardest hit by the problem, complained Tuesday of stealing, rock throwing and smoking by students on the ridge. "They do a great deal of damage," Wragg said. "It's very disconcerting."

The ridge, wooded by pine trees, and the ground blanketed by needles, was called "very inflammable" by High School Principal Philip Wormwood. According to the residents, there have been several fires there this year, one of which was extinguished by the girls' baseball team and the track team who waded into waist-high flames to stamp it out.

"You can't really police it all the time," Harris said, "because the kids are always going through."

"Karen and I aren't formidable enough to scare them off," said Perkins.

Nancy Gump, 12 Pioneer Circle, spoke against the fence, saying her son walks across the ridge to school, and a fence would limit his access. He would have to take the bus, she said, and leave home a half an hour earlier for school in the morning.

Mrs. Viehmann asked Supt. Kenneth Seifert to get maps of the area and linear foot costs of fencing to help the committee make a decision on the matter at the June 5 meeting.

Committeeman Joseph Finn said he wanted to hear all objections to the fence before deciding, but said, "If a fence can afford some measure of relief to these people, I think they're entitled to it."

"It isn't Camelot," Harris said, "but we expect to feel safe in our homes. This is Andover and I expect this from Andover."

Batteries

Batteries generate explosive gases, so always keep sparks, flames, burning cigarettes or other ignition sources away from them. Shield your eyes when working near the battery, and when you use booster cables, make the final connection to the engine block of the stalled car, away from the battery.

Andover High Prom

himself at the end of each paragraph.

When he began the project, he says he insisted he would tell the PA story "warts and all," and there was never the slightest effort on the part of anyone to censor what he had written.

Once, he says, Sizer did mention that he felt Allis had included more warts than necessary to make a point, and that the result had been overkill.

One of the "warts" Allis felt important to the record was the anti-semitism and anti-black policy that pervaded in the first 45 years of this century. However, he says, the school was quick to respond to change, and even though the Supreme Court integration decision of 1954 applied only to public schools, PA began actively recruiting black students soon after.

Allis maintains that the school has changed more in the past 10 years than it had in the previous 190. Of the original basic principles laid down by the first preceptor, Eliphalet Pearson — academic excellence, exclusive concentration on the classics, an all-powerful headmaster, housing students with town residents, an attempt to inculcate a very strong Calvinistic religion, and the idea that the school should help indigent young men who could not otherwise afford the Andover education — all but the first and last have gone down the drain.

Headmaster Cecil Bancroft, "for my money the greatest educator," built up the science and math curricula in the 1920's, and built the strong faculty, making faculty meetings a regular part of the school's calendar. He began to provide school housing for the students and stressed the love in the Christian religion, rather than the Calvinist fear of an angry God.

In more recent years, compulsory chapel has been abolished and they let the ladies into the academy — "the final revolutionary action that has been an almost unqualified success," says Allis, "despite dire predictions about what would happen."

Founder Samuel Phillips is probably turning over in his grave about that one, Allis says, as well as about the new, tripartite ministry (Catholic, Jewish and Protestant). Coats and ties have disappeared in the classroom and Allis chuckles as he recalls only one time a headmaster has had to break a tie in a faculty meeting vote. They had already voted to allow students to wear Bermuda shorts, Allis says, and Headmaster John Kemper had to cast the deciding vote on whether they should wear long socks or short ones with them.

Allis's research turned up some marvelous anecdotes as well as "a lot of salacious gossip about the faculty," and he particularly relishes stories about the Squire Farrar, in whose house on Phillips Street Allis has lived for the past 20 years.

Farrar was school treasurer and a most powerful influence to boot. "He held family prayers right there in the dining room every morning at 6:09," Allis says. "Then he'd go out and chop wood before breakfast."

Farrar took two or three walks a day and people could practically set their watches by him. On those walks, Allis adds, Farrar carried a cane that never touched the ground.

Farrar planted the elm trees that grace the campus, but had less success as an architect which, "unfortunately, he fancied himself." He built the very square "Farrar-esque" buildings bare, somber, devoid of trim. His own home was built in 1812 at the Corner of Phillips and Main, where the Peabody Archaeology Museum is today. In 1881 it was moved to its present location at the corner of Old Campus Road.

Being a senior member of the faculty, Allis has had his choice of housing for many years, and when he and his artist wife Laura move to their new condominium in Back Bay this summer, they'll start a chain reaction of faculty moves all across campus.

Allis first came to PA as a student, and he really had no choice, he says, because his father had been an Amherst fraternity brother of Headmaster Al Stearns.

In those days, Allis recalls, "you didn't send a boy to Andover, you sent him to Al Stearns."

He describes Stearns as a very strong dogmatic New England schoolmaster, who preached against the base and sordid aspects of life and who didn't want anyone to suggest there were relative degrees of sin. "He reinforced his points by kicking the pulpit — as anyone who ever sat below him will never forget."

But, Allis says, Stearns was always voted "most respected" when yearbook time rolled around.

After graduating from Amherst and teaching a year at Haverford Prep, Allis came back to Andover under Claude Fuess, whom he had had as a teacher. In those days, he says, they would recruit the sons of families they liked, and figure they could always find something for them to teach after they got here.

"They batted fairly well with that theory," he adds.

Allis admits that he has from time to time thought he should do something else, he has been offered headmasters' jobs upon occasion.

"But that," he says, "would be a fate worse than death as far as I'm concerned," and he professes great like for traditional classroom work.

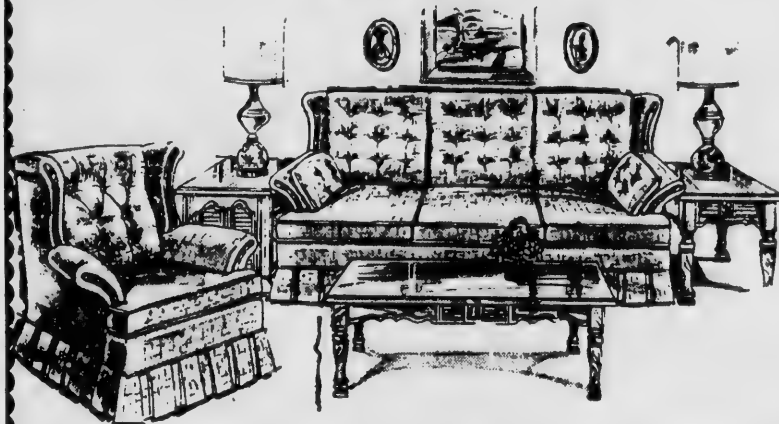

One thing that has made Exeter and Andover stand out among private schools over the years, Allis says, is their scholarship programs — their attempt to get "youth from every quarter" — and Allis served for several years as director of financial aid. He also helped found the School Scholarship Service, which operates out of Princeton and serves as sort of a clearing house for private schools.

Allis has been involved in almost every aspect of the school, including a stint as soccer coach, and later on as a referee.

"It was a job I took very seriously," Allis says, believing that the referee should always be on line with the ball. One day after he had been running up and down

Gym Study Broadened In Scope

The feasibility of retaining Cardinal Cushing gymnasium as a town facility, as ordered by town meeting vote, will be expanded, according to Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark.

Clark said this week that the appointment of a study committee would be made soon and that the scope would be enlarged to consider all facilities available to the community services department.

The manager felt that expanding the scope would provide a more complete report to be presented to the October town meeting.

Other facilities to be included in the study are the Ballardvale Community Center, West Andover Community Center, potentially a Recreation Park lodge and school facilities.

Voters at the annual town meeting rejected sale of the Cardinal Cushing gymnasium, opting rather to have the facility studied for potential town use. The administration had planned to sell the Haverhill street building to the Andover Companies and use the funds to rebuild Recreation Park lodge, destroyed by fire last summer.

Pursue Bikeways Funding

The town will look into obtaining state funds for development of bikeways in town.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said this week that town meeting a few years ago appropriated some funds for bikeway development. State funds are now available for such projects and the manager feels the town should take advantage.

With school bus transportation to be cut back and energy conservation a top priority, the manager feels development of bikeways and sidewalks makes good sense and provides for safe transportation either on a recreational level or for going to and from school.

Registration For New Team

The Andover team of the new 16-18 year-old Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League will hold its initial registration session (no tryouts) this Saturday from 6-7 p.m. at the Andover High school varsity field.

On-the-field tryouts will be staged this Sunday and Monday (Memorial Day) from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at a site to be announced.

All potential candidates must attend a minimum of one tryout to be considered for the team. The registration fee ($25), to help defray cost of equipment and umpires, will be refunded if the player is not selected for the team.

All candidates must be between 16 and 18 years of age, and cannot be 19 prior to Aug. 1.

Manager of the Andover team, which will play its home games at the East Junior High, is Al Pelletier and the coaches are Don Rathbun and Dr. Hal Faigel.

The new league will begin its first season of operation on June 10.

The five team league, the first of its kind in this area, will include North Lawrence, South Lawrence, Georgetown, Chelmsford and Andover.

Future plans call for a league consisting of 16 teams from northeastern Massachusetts, split into two eight-member divisions, and other local towns that have expressed an interest are North Reading, Haverhill, Lowell and Tewksbury.

The Greater Lawrence League will play a 20-game schedule during its regular season, plus playoffs, and an All-Star team will be selected to compete in the annual Babe Ruth 16-18 Tournament.

Team rosters will consist of 18 players, and it is expected that many of the top high school and college freshman players from the area will participate.

All games involving Lawrence teams will be played at Mark Devlin Field, many of them under lights.

Seifert said when he came to Andover in 1969, it had long been practice to transfer funds within the budget to balance the budget, and when he approached FinCom in the early years, he got the same message. Their goal, he said, was to protect the reserve fund, rather than use it to cover the $100,000 or more that is historically spent each year on unanticipated items.

Seifert said he has asked the last two business managers to establish a more accurate accounting procedure, and has been told that the town's present NCR computer cannot respond. It sometimes takes two to three weeks to verify an account, he said because of the limitations of the computer.

Seifert said FinCom has always received information when they've requested it, and he asked that the school committee and FinCom put in writing what procedures they should follow, and establish a long-term financial plan. He said they should know what kinds of reports FinCom wants and when and concluded that FinCom is made up of "very conscientious people," but that there simply isn't agreement "as to the way we run the business."

Committeeman Casimir Kolaski said he resented the insinuation from town meeting that the school committee was not cooperating with FinCom. He said he felt they had gone out of their way to be helpful, and suggested that school people not put forth that level of effort in the future if it isn't going to be appreciated.

Kolaski further said that when he came on the committee, the Peat, Marwich & Mitchell report had just been made, and that the schools had moved quickly to correct some problems, even though he found it in general to be a "pretty positive" report.

He said they had decided not to make major changes until they were on the computer, which should occur this July. He said he has never felt there has been "any kind of mismanagement, hanky panky or fooling around" on the budgets.

The school committee, he said, has pretty much endorsed the way the school business has been carried on.

Kolaski was the lone vote against asking FinCom for the transfer from the reserve fund, because he feared the schools would be giving up some financial control.

But Colleague Joseph Finn said FinCom was going to have to give them the money, or they'd have to ask it from town meeting.

He said he personally had gone as far as he could "watching the system go down the drain," and recalled discussion about cutting out French V and German 3.

"Sure other systems may not have them," Finn said, "but that's what makes Andover unique. If we start taking these things away, the system won't be so special any more."

Kolaski said the one bright spot was that "clearly a majority of town meeting wanted to fund quality education," and that a relatively small minority was able to thwart the majority will because of the necessary two-thirds vote.

He added he felt the school committee had responded much more to what the townspeople wanted, not what FinCom recommended.

"I think the constituency is there for a decent school budget," he said, and urged them to seek a budget which allows more flexibility in the future.

Committeeman John Eaton said he was particularly disturbed by the "vindictiveness and animosity," as well as the "out to get" attitudes that surfaced around town meeting time.

Registry Confirms Many N. H. Plates

Out Of State, Not Out Of Mind

Registry of motor vehicle inspectors confirmed 20 to 30 complaints of Andover residents registering their cars out of state last week, their first week on the job in Andover, and are confirming more each day.

The registry inspectors in Andover are just part of a state-wide crackdown on Massachusetts residents who register vehicles out of state to avoid Massachusetts excise taxes and insurance premiums. The excise tax is set at $66 per $1000 value of a car.

Inspector Ray Dirusso (left) and Inspector Joseph Mellino at work in the Andover police station looking for Massachusetts residents with cars registered out of state.

Inspector Joseph Mellino said this week that he and Inspector Ray Dirusso are investigating complaints by residents who notice that their neighbors have out of state plates on their cars, but they live here and send their children to school here.

If caught, offenders can reregister their cars in Massachusetts at no penalty or face a hearing in Boston where they would have to present documents which prove they are residents of another state.

If found to be in violation of state registry regulations, a Massachusetts resident must reregister or lose his license here and in the state his car is registered.

Country Club Protection Near Agreement

Yvon Cormier seems near to agreeing to protect the Andover Country Club golf course, as is, in perpetuity, according to Rhys G. Kear, director of community development and planning.

"We are very close to an agreement about how that will be done," Kear said yesterday.

Cormier is the developer who purchased the country club and who plans to build about 200 homes on it.

"He is very interested in having that golf course remain," Kear said, "and we want to make sure it does, too. He wants to protect the golf course at least in the short term — 10 to 15 years — for marketing."

Revised informal plans for the proposed subdivision were received favorably by the planning board Tuesday night, Kear said. He said the board was "comfortable with the schematic" and they "informally agreed it was superior to the original plan."

Cormier plans to develop first a 70-acre section of the land on Lowell Street between Canterbury and Chandler. Formal preliminary plans on that section of the subdivision are expected in two to four weeks, Kear said, and public hearings on the development will be held then.

The subdivision is a conventional cluster arrangement, Kear said, made up of a single-family homes on 25,000 square foot lots. Building condominiums on the site had been considered and rejected, he said.

Pump Station Plans Begin To Progress

Public Works Director Robert McQuade told selectmen Monday night that the town is about to start step one of a federally funded three-step sewer improvement program for the Riverina Road pumping station and the Outfall sewer line.

The project is meant to increase the capacity of the Riverina Road station, now pumping at a maximum, and the Outfall line which runs from the station to the treatment plant in Lawrence.

The first step, studying the town's entire sewer system and updating its master plan, will start June 4 with a joint meeting of the board of selectmen, the planning board, conservation commission, and board of health. Three public meetings on the matter will follow, the first scheduled for late June or early July.

Then Camp, Dresser and McKee, under contract with the town to design and build the improvements, will make recommended revisions for the master plan. The first step, McQuade said, should take about a year.

The second step, design, should take six to eight months, and the final step, construction, about two years.

McQuade said the whole timetable could be slowed down if between steps the government delays approval of funds for the next step.

Move To Resolve Trash Problems

Andover will cancel its contract with South Shore Disposal immediately if the company has any more problems collecting the trash on time, Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark told selectmen Monday night.

He said he would fire South Shore before its contract is scheduled to expire June 30 and hire Roketenetz, under contract to begin trash pickup in Andover July 1.

Hiring Roketenetz for six weeks before their contract is scheduled to take effect would cost the town $6000 more than was budgeted for trash collection, Clark said.

Joseph Nisby, owner of South Shore, was unable to find crews to pick up the large volume of trash placed at curbside during spring clean-up, and the town had to hire extra crews from Roketenetz for three days last week at a cost of $1200 per day, Clark said.

According to Clark, two of three South

Shore crews quit work before finishing trash pick-up last Monday and Tuesday. Clark said if Nisby can resolve his labor problems, there should be no further problems for the remainder of the contract period.

Selectmen To Alter Agenda

Selectmen agreed Monday night to try a new organization of their agenda in an attempt to make their meetings shorter.

The new organization, called the consent agenda, will place routine matters facing the board together in one section of the agenda where the board can vote on them all at once.

Proposition To Perform

The Proposition will perform as the final event of the 1979 Cultural Series on Sunday, June 10, 2 p.m. at the George Washington Hall Auditorium, Phillips Academy. The Proposition started back in 1968 in Cambridge performing small skits and coffee houses throughout the Boston area campuses. Beginning their eleventh season they have now extended their operations to New York, Philadelphia and points east, west, north and south.

The Proposition is a group of five talented actors who take suggestions from the audience and improvise upon them in the styles of foreign movies, opera composers, playwrights or time periods. The Proposition made its greatest impact with its improvisational revues with music, and this technique is still its method.

It isn't easy to become a member of The Proposition. Each year Allan Albert the present director, auditions approximately 600 hopefuls, out of which only one or two may be chosen. The average Propositioner stays with the troupe for approximately two years. For almost all of them it is their first professional experience and about as fine a training ground as any in the world. They are required to master 12 different characters rather than the usual one or two, they must read deeply in all the classic and contemporary forms and they must be aware of what is going on in the world. If the audience wants them to do a soap opera in the styles of Shakespeare, Brecht and Ionesco, they must be aware of what those styles are and how to catch them in the idiom. The Proposition is back from New York, and, all in all, it's a Proposition you can't refuse.

Funds for this performance were provided by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities.

A wine and cheese reception following the performance will be sponsored by Bay Bank Merrimack Valley and will allow the audience the opportunity to mingle with the performers.

Tickets for the Proposition are on Sale at the Department of Community Services office, 36 Bartlett Street, at posted locations throughout Andover and at the door on Sunday, June 10.

Memorial Hall Library

Libraries Closed Memorial Day

Memorial Hall Library and the Ballardvale Library will be closed Monday, May 28 in celebration of Memorial Day. Due to a new policy decision, the Ballardvale Library will longer be open on the day following a Monday holiday, as has been the custom. Therefore, next week the Ballardvale Library will be open only on Thursday, May 31, 2 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

For those who are planning ahead, the Main Library will start its summer hours on June 15. The Library will be closed on Saturdays and Sunday thereafter through the Labor Day weekend.

Gift Ideas For Graduates

Looking for an idea to give this year's graduate? Sue Hurwitz, young Adult Librarian, has compiled a "portable paperback reference library designed for high school graduates on the go." Invaluable for the student heading to college, the list is available for patrons in the main Reading Room.

Photo Display

Peter and Janet Baker's photographs of the Southwest, mainly taken in Arizona, are now on display at Memorial Hall Library.

Peter is a graduate of Andover High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker of North Main Street, Andover. A graduate of the University of Arizona, he now works for the Pharmacology Dept. at the University of Arizona in Tucson. Peter and his wife both majored in zoology and their love of animals is evident in this unusually colorful exhibit, which will be on display until the middle of June.

Children's Room News By Bridget Bennett

The Children's Room is pleased to report the arrival of a new Listening Center, gift of the Friends of the Library.

With this equipment, children may use our extensive collection of recorded stories and music while visiting the Children's Room.

Our evening drop-in story hour will continue to meet every Thursday at 7 p.m. until mid-June. Pajama Party offers preschoolers 45 minutes of bedtime stories, songs and occasionally a short film. Children are encouraged to come dressed for bed.

Recently, a group of eight "Songbirds," assisted by their leaders, Mrs. Betty Pease and Mrs. Nancy Kramer, planted flowers in the Children's Room garden as part of a Wise Old Willie project, which was designed to teach the children about conservation.

Ducks

The duck's name comes from the Middle English word, duke, meaning a diving bird. Goose derives from the Old English word, gos, and swan probably comes from the Latin, sonus, meaning sound, referring to the tumultuous call of some swans, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

The Pot Luck Luncheon scheduled for May 24 — this afternoon — has been cancelled.

The Haven will be closed Monday, May 28, for the Memorial Day holiday.

A lecture series on Social Gerontology is being given at The Haven under the auspices of Norther's Essex Community College. The first lecture was last Wednesday, May 23, but the next two are available to those interested Wednesday afternoons from 1 to 5 p.m. on May 30 and June 6.

Representatives of the company involved in the development of the Tyer Rubber Company property into elderly housing will present their plans at The Haven, Tuesday morning, May 29 at 10 a.m. Everyone is invited to come.

The June Birthday Party will be held at 2 p.m. June 6 at The Haven. If your birthday is in June, come be our guest; if it's not, come help them celebrate. Birthday parties are always fun and the more who come, the merrier the party. Remember, June 6 at 2 p.m. at The Haven.

Wednesday, June 13 is the date of the Annual regional Chicken Barbeque at the Vocational High School out on River Road. It will be Wendell Coltin Appreciation Day. Transportation will be available. Tickets are on sale now at The Haven and cost only fifty cents. This is always a popular event, so don't miss out. Get your tickets today.

The Haven is sponsoring a trip to the Manchester Mall June 12, leaving The Haven about 9:30 and returning at 3:30. Cost for transportation is $3.50. Whatever else you spend is up to you. There are several interesting places to eat, plenty of shops to browse through and ample seating if you just want to sit and watch the activity. Reservations should be made now. And don't forget the day trip to Newport, R.I. June 26 a bus will leave The Haven, taking a group from The Haven to tour Newport's historical areas, visit The Breakers, cruise around Newport Harbor, have a delicious lunch — and all for twenty dollars. If you've never been to Newport, you'll love it; if you have been there before, you know it's worth seeing again. But let The Haven staff know you want to go.

The Haven Travel Club's August trip to Nova Scotia is sold out, but there are still some places left on the July trip to Toronto, the Thousand Islands and Niagara Falls. Call The Haven for details on this trip scheduled for July 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20. The phone at The Haven — 475-3968 or 475-4165.

marks its first venture into southeastern New Hampshire.

The first stops are at Newburyport and Amesbury, two towns in Massachusetts which belong geographically to both the Merrimack River Valley and to the Coastal Slope. Amesbury was the site of some of the earliest successful woolen mills, and Newburyport was the home of the very important James Mill during the 1840s and later. Captain Charles T. James was a pioneer in the use of steam power to produce textiles, and his mill at Newburyport is unique for that reason.

The tour will then continue north into New Hampshire where the Exeter Manufacturing Co., the Newmarket Manufacturing Co., the Cocheco Print Works (later, the Pacific Print Works) at Dover, the Great Falls Manufacturing Company at Somersworth and the Salmon Falls Manufacturing Co., at Rollinsford will be visited. The mill buildings at each of these sites will be the focus of attention, but corporate housing and commercial blocks related to the mill sites will also be examined on the tour.

Historian and preservation consultant Richard Candee will be the guide for the day.

The tour will depart promptly at 9 a.m. from the front steps of the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum, 800 Massachusetts Ave., North Andover. Advance registration is required. The $17.50 includes lunch at the Galley Hatch in Hampton. Persons wanting to join the tour should contact the Supervisor of Educational Services at the Museum.

National Minor League Results

Dodgers 5, Braves 3

In this game the Dodgers proved to be just too much for the Braves. The Braves offense was provided by Pat Plaehn and the defensive play of Dave Sullivan and Matt Ostrowski kept the Braves close.

Cardinals 12, Cubs 4

The Cardinal offense came alive after spotting the Cubs two first inning runs on Billy Donovan's home run. The Cardinals scored 2 in the first, 2 in the second, 1 in the fourth and 7 in the sixth to ice the game. The Cardinals were led to victory by the pitching of John Geiger and Robbie Carpentier and the hitting of Mark Grams, Mike Surette and Dave Starensier. Also at third base Ted Cormier's great defensive play contributed to the Victory.

Giants 6, Dodgers 5

Good pitching was the name of the game for the Giants with Mike Peterson, John Regan and Chris Colsia going two solid innings each. The defensive play of Dave Wade in the fifth inning helped seal the victory for the Giants.

Mets 6, Braves 5

After spotting the Mets 6 runs in the first inning, the Braves kept chipping away at that lead to make this a close game. The Braves Jonathan Yezereski pitched well and Jeff Penner, Craig Ziady and Stephen Zaimes played will defensively.

Giants 16, Cubs 10

In this seesaw game the lead changed hands four times and the game was not really decided until the last of the fifth inning. Then overeager base running by the Cubs in the sixth inning killed off a budding rally and their chances for a comeback. The Giants offensive punch was helped along by Chris Scarpa's home run, a triple by Dave Wade and a double by Craig Wilson.

Cubs 8, Mets 4

In this outing the Mets jumped off to an early 3-0 lead and held the Cubs scoreless until the bottom of the third when the Cubs got two runs. The game was tied at the end of four innings, but in the fifth the Cubs broke it open with 4 runs. In that inning the big hit was provided by Joe Murphy with the basis loaded. Billy Donovan pitched shut out ball for the final two innings to nail down the win for the Cubs.

Braves 8, Giants 7

This was one of those frustrating games for the Giants who lost even though they outhit the Braves 14 to 7. For the winners Robert Boshar, John Twoomey and Matt Aumais provided the big hits and good play by Ernie Baldwin, Steve Mencis and Tim Plaehn provided the defense. For the Giants the offensive stars were Robby Wilson, John Regan and John Morocco who all hit doubles and Tom Lutz who had two doubles.

Cardinals 13, Dodgers 6

Good hitting and effective pitching provided the Cardinals with this win. The hitting stars were Mark Grams and John Geiger each of whom had three hits, drove in three runs and also scored three runs. Mark Surette and Scott Derry also contributed to the offense. The pitching chores were divided by Robbie Carpentier, Mark Grams and John Geiger. The offensive punch, for the Dodgers, was providing Mark Patti with 2 hits, including a home run and Mike DiMeo with 2 hits, including a triple.

Pirates 11, Cubs 6

Billy Donovan connected for his second home run of the season and John Recesso contributed two doubles to the Cubs' attack but this was not enough, and the Cubs were overwhelmed by a Pirate seven-run third inning. Pat Fleming played well defensively, in the losing cause, for the Cubs.

Giants 11, Mets 6

This was one of those one inning games, which turned out to be the Giants second inning. In that stanza the Giants batted around and during the barrage Robby Wilson hit two home runs. Chris Scarpa, after a walk, stole second, third and home, and the Giants tallied 8 runs. The Giants were supported in the field by good defensive plays by Craig Wilson, Robby Salisbury and Danny Moynihan.

Cardinals 14, Braves 5

The Cardinals offense was just too much for the Braves with David Starensier, Mark Grams and Ted Cormier supplying the punch, with three hits each. The Cardinals started quickly with eight runs in the first inning and were never headed. Mark Grams and John Geiger pitched two strong innings each, for the Cardinals. In the sixth the Braves turned in a beautiful double play, centerfielder Pat Plaehn, after making a running catch, threw to Jeff Penner — Penner then relayed to catcher Matt Ostrowski who cut down the runner trying to score from third after the catch.

IF YOU DON'T HAVE ONE — YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE MISSING

Although the so-called "action chairs" — the ones that recline, rock or swivel — are one of the most popular phenomena in the furniture industry, there are still people not aware of the delightful addition that one — or more — of these chairs can bring to a home, and a life-style.

We say one or more, because these chairs can now be used in more than one room. With the improved styling and variety of fabrics and designs, you can use recliners in living rooms, dens, family rooms, offices and bedrooms as never before.

There are really three main reasons why recliners have zoomed in popularity in recent years. One reason is the improved styling that makes these chairs better looking.

The second reason is the technological improvement of the mechanisms within the chairs. And the third reason is the added comfort that makes these chairs so wonderful to settle in.

It's the last reason — the real comfort — that makes us say if you don't have one, you don't know what you're missing. Or, if you have one, it's worth considering another. Yes, recliners can go everywhere now, and be enjoyed in any room. We invite you to shop here.

Will Begin Work On Educational Policy

The ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

MAY 24, 1979

The school committee announced they will begin discussing grade reorganization alternatives at their June 5 meeting, in an attempt to come up with an educational policy statement that will enable the building committee to continue its work.

School Chairman Elaine Viehmann said the building group is "determined" to go back to town meeting the latter part of the summer.

The committee also formally accepted the population projections made by former school chairmen Frank Griggs and David Ahouse, and Joe Baglio of the declining enrollment committee, as updated recently by Baglio.

Committeeman Casimir Koilaski made the motion for acceptance of the studies as the official projections for the next five years, and then asked that they further indicate "that the school committee intends to expend no funds to duplicate this effort."

(The board of selectmen, before town meeting, suggested that an outside firm be employed to make the studies.)

In answer to questions from the committee about the amount of building going on in town, Baglio said the effect of building is not as important as the effect of kids going to private schools. "If you drive kids back into Andover schools," he said, "then you'll have another problem."

Mrs. Viehmann said there will be an attempt to inform the townspeople as much as possible in coming weeks, and that she has already asked all PTO's to send two regular delegates to school committee and school building committee meetings through the summer.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said the upcoming meetings will include discussion of such grade groupings as 5-3-4 (a five-year elementary, three-year junior high and four-year high school plan), 6-3-3 (the present system), 6-6, 6-2-4 and 8-4. He said the administration plans to go through the advantages and disadvantages of each.

He added that if they had their druthers, they'd establish an educational policy first, and then assign the buildings accordingly, rather than settle on a grade grouping "just because it fits."

Also at the June 5 session, the committee will begin work on the direction letter it sends annually to townspeople.

Organ Is Unwrapped For Sunday's Service

By Tim Greene

Wrapped in old copies of the Schenectady Gazette and packed in flower boxes from Speedling Florist, a musical treasure slipped into Andover Monday night from Cobleskill, N.Y.

It was an 1845 Pilcher organ, the oldest pipe organ in the country built by Henry Pilcher, a master organ builder and founder of one of America's finest organ companies.

The organ was bound for Faith Lutheran church on South Main Street, as was Rev. John M. Crum, Jr., pastor of St. Christopher's Episcopal Church, Cobleskill, and former owner of the organ. He came along to help put it together.

According to Crum, the organ was built shortly after the eighteenth-century peak of organ building and before its decline in the late nineteenth century. Then, by changing the shapes of the pipes and the shapes of the holes in the pipes, and blowing too much air through them, organs lost their rich baroque sound. Only within the last 15 or 20 years has the baroque sound regained popularity in the United States.

According to Crum, this Pilcher is more reliable than the electric one it replaces. The tracker mechanism by which it is operated is entirely mechanical and can last for centuries. He cited the case of the tracker organ in Zion, Switzerland, which has been continual use since 1390, and which only recently was equipped with an electric blower to replace the original manual pump and air reservoir.

The Pilcher at Faith Lutheran has also been modernized with an electric blower and all new action, the mechanism which transfers the motion of the keys to the pipes. "The experts don't really approve," said Rev. Dennis Kohl, pastor of Faith Lutheran. He said they favor exact restoration of the instruments.

The reassembly of the Pilcher was ex-

Fatally Burned In Home

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 this morning in Christ Episcopal church for Mrs. Gloria (Adams) Hamilton, who was fatally burned in a fire at her Sutherland street home Monday morning.

Andover fire officials listed the probably cause as electrical in the fire which burned up from the cellar through to the first floor of the wood frame house at 26 Sutherland St.

Mrs. Hamilton's body was found in the den.

The fire was discovered by 14-year-old John Levesque, a junior high student, who noticed smoke coming from the house while walking to school. He telephoned the fire department and also phoned his mother to call the department who responded shortly before 7:30 a.m.

Fire fighting crews under the direction of Deputy Chief Robert Bousch, were met by intense heat and smoke in battling the blaze and were unable to enter the house.

Fire Lt. William Moore fell through the floor in an effort to get to the bedroom, after being informed there may have been someone in the house. The beam gave way due to the heat and fire Moore was uninjured.

Mrs. Hamilton worked as a secretary at Christ Church and also part time at the town hall. She was also active in the Thrift Shop at Christ church.

She is survived by a son, James S. Hamilton of Andover.

A Few Random Thoughts

As we head toward the first holiday weekend of the summer or vacation season, we share a few random thoughts.

For those who will have sufficient gasoline to take off for the long holiday weekend, there will be sufficient reminders that the vacation season is upon us.

Not only is there a shortage of gasoline and a substantial increase in its price when available, but, per usual, Massachusetts has its orange and white barrels out on the highways again.

The barrels, of course, are to protect workmen making repairs to highways, but, no doubt, they will only be accomplishing mostly the tying up of traffic. The barrels will be found predominantly along major highways leading to resort areas, such as Cape Cod. Warning of the presence of the barrels will be a myriad of signs indicating "Construction Ahead, Squeeze Left," and large blinking directional arrows.

Effort Commended

Members of the Andover Firefighters union and the town reached agreement this week on a new two-year contract. The agreement was reached after ten sessions between administrators and union representatives and was accomplished without aid of counsel.

While there were some points which the firefighters probably would have enjoyed having contained in the new pact, they willingly gave up some fringes in an effort to get the matter settled.

Too, the firefighters took into consideration the mood of the town and the state in the realization that austerity is the order of the day.

It is probably the first time in recent years that the firefighters and town have reached agreement before the old contract expired and months of haggling followed.

While we have constantly been aware of the community spirit of the Andover fire department, along with their continued attention to keeping abreast of modern public safety methods, their willingness to agree on a new contract this week enhances their standing.

There is little doubt in these inflationary times when "more is better," could be the philosophy of labor negotiations. To reach the agreement status it is obvious that both sides had to give and the firefighters came away with less than really desired.

We think their efforts are commendable.

Bikeways

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark said this week there will be an effort made to obtain funds to match local appropriations for the development of bikeways in town.

A few years ago a bikeway plan was approved at town meeting with some modest funding.

With cutbacks due in school busing, due to economy moves, as well as the recognition of energy problems, initiation of the development of bikeways is a logical move.

We hope that such effort will get underway within a reasonable period of time, even if the start be a modest one.

The Andover Teacher's Association held a supper meeting at Rolling Ridge Conference center North Andover Wednesday evening and honored retiring remedial teacher Elizabeth Hopkins.

Memorial Day exercises in Andover were marred by some demonstrations armbands and in some cases assaults. Principle events took place at the Coffee Mill where an armband wearer was beaten by a teenager and hospitalized with a concussion and chipped teeth.

Receipt of applications for the town manager vacancy has been poor according to Robert A. Watters, chairman of the board of selectmen. To date there have been only 16 of 17, most of which were received the first week following advertising of the vacancy.

Graduating members of the Andover High School band were feted at dinner at Merrimack Valley Motor Inn recently as guests of the Andover Band Parents Association.

Dr. Richard Katz, chairman of the school committee, was concerned this week over a report that Bancroft school had a projected enrollment of only 58 first graders and 51 kindergarteners for next fall, meaning that Bancroft will have an empty room while other schools, particularly adjacent Central, are seriously overcrowded.

Superintendent Edward Erickson said that about $125,000 worth of repairs would be attempted on East Junior High this summer, including a new clock and bell system, updating the homemaking facilities, buying new furniture for the library, etc.

JACK ANDERSON WITH JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

Carter Wants U.S. To Store World's Nuclear Wastes Here

WASHINGTON — President Carter wants to make the United States the dumping ground for much of the world's nuclear wastes. These are products which remain radioactive for more than 200,000 years.

Energy experts have yet to find a place safe enough to store the nuclear materials. The mere transportation of these contaminated wastes is extremely dangerous. Yet the president is asking Congress for approval to take the radioactive products from all over the free world and store them somewhere in this country.

He has a reason, which he thinks justifies the danger. He wants to prevent the proliferation of nuclear weapons around the globe.

Wastes produced by nuclear power plants can be reprocessed into plutonium, an element used in making hydrogen bombs. Carter wants to import these by-products to prevent other nations from building H bombs.

But there is a darker side to the scheme. The opposition to nuclear reactors is growing in this country. So the corporations that build reactors are eyeing the foreign market.

Under Carter's plan, foreign countries would be more inclined to buy the reactors. They would receive assurances that they could dump their wastes here.

Incidentally, the president is going ahead with his dumping plan without regard for the lesson of Three Mile Island. The near melt-down at this nuclear plant should result in a complete re-evaluation of U.S. nuclear policy. We need to know whether nuclear waste products can be transported and stored safely. Otherwise, we might be passing on to future generations a plethora of illnesses related to radioactivity.

Meanwhile, the importation of radioactive wastes has already begun. About 50 shipments of these contaminated materials were unloaded in Portsmouth, Va., last year.

Phone Profits: President Carter has asked ordinary citizens to hold their salary increases down to seven percent. Yet the large corporations recently experienced an average profit jump of 26 percent. Some oil companies have reported profit increases as high as 300 percent.

The giant American Telephone and Telegraph Company would like to get some of the gravy. It is quietly seeking permission to earn more money on its long-distance telephone service.

The Bell System is permitted to earn up to 10 percent on long-distance calls. But it is now asking for a rate of return of up to 12 percent. The extra two percent could be worth $464 million to AT&T. It would come, of course, out of the pockets of telephone users.

A spokesman stressed that AT&T is not asking for a rate increase. It wants an increase in what the law will allow the company to earn. The extra profits would come, the spokesman told our associate Tony Capaccio, from additional users and new technology.

It should take about a year for the Federal Communications Commission to act on the request. Meanwhile, AT&T wants the commission to approve an interim increase to nearly 10 1/2 percent. The company would like to get this extra half percent without going through the bother of a public hearing.

But the request is being contested by the General Services Administration. Government officials contend that the company already made 10 1/2 percent last year. This could add up to an estimated $180 million more than the law allowed.

The company spokesman admitted that the long-distance service did earn more than the legal limit, but claimed that it was minimal. The White House consumers' champion, Esther Peterson, wants the Bell System to refund the money. The General Services Administration would be satisfied if the company merely cut its consumer charges.

The company, of course, wants to keep all it can.

Uncle Sam's Payroll: Unemployment keeps rising, but if it were not for the government, the statistics would be even worse. One out of every 10 working Americans is on the federal payroll. Just over two million persons are full-fledged civil servants and, according to a recent independent study, as many as eight million additional workers are paid indirectly by the government. The total amounts to about 10 percent of the U.S. work force.

Corporate Fatcats: According to a recent survey of the nation's highest paid corporate executives, their salaries have little to do with their performance or responsibilities. Oil company executives were at the top of the heap: Five of the 10 highest salaried executives in the country work in the oil industry. Of the top 148 corporate fatcats, 24 head oil firms. The food industry is next in line with 19 high-salaried executives among the top 148. The auto industry claims 12 of the best-paid executive slots.

Inflation Scoop: A California businessman jumped on the anti-inflation bandwagon several years ago by offering a miniature ice cream cone for a dime. The cone is two inches tall and one and a quarter inches in diameter; it will hold half a scoop of ice cream. But now inflation has taken its toll on the minicone. In February, the price of the tiny treat jumped to 20 cents.

Precious Board: In the average office supply store, large cork bulletin boards go for about $50 to $60. An extra few bucks would probably fetch one with walnut trim. But not at a government supply store. A large government bulletin board comes equipped with locking plexiglas doors — and a price tag of $330.

Commuter Ticketing

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Recently I spent a week visiting my sister in Andover, while attending a workshop daily at Boston University. In order to conserve gas, I commuted to B.U. on the Trombley Bus and the M.B.T.A. This trip averaged about four hours a day of commuting time, but I felt it was worthwhile in view of the energy crisis.

I caught the bus each day about 7:10 a.m. from the bus stop at the intersection of Rte. 28 and Rte. 133 in Shawsheen. I parked my car in the little parking lot provided for commuters until the day that I received a parking ticket for parking prior to 7:30 a.m.

In the period of energy crisis, I find it incredible that the town of Andover discourages users of public transportation by ticketing cars parked by commuters in a commuter parking lot. It is impossible to reach certain parts of Boston before 9 a.m. unless one leaves before 7:30 a.m. I hope the town reevaluates this short-sighted parking practice.

Editorial Objection

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Last Friday, as I was gingerly perusing my favorite local newspaper — I always start at the Homes for Sale, then hit the garage sales, the soccer pages and the School Lunch Menu (an absolute must) — I came upon the editorial page and, to my surprise, found out that I am chastised by my favorite local editor for attending Town Meeting.

Now, just imagine how I felt. I was just recovering from five nights of rushing home from work, preparing dinner, making sure homework wasn't forgotten, finding sitters on school nights so both my husband and I could attend, then arriving at Town Meeting and remembering that I had forgotten to throw the load of wash in the dryer which meant I could look forward to that at 11 p.m. — only to be told that I should have stayed home! I was told that I should not have studied the Warrant, should not have attended the School Department's sessions and should not have made any decisions. I was reprimanded for voting for the 8.2 school budget and blamed for the defeat of the Rec. Lodge. Pretty heavy stuff and not even half way through the paper!

In all seriousness though, I voted for what I believed was in the best interests of my children and the Town. I know the low school budget will hurt my children's education. It means the end of a fine swimming program which was just introduced in the Shawsheen School. The whole program cost only three thousand dollars but it had to be eliminated. I voted for the construction of the Rec. Lodge.

This also was a modest sum of money but, as in the case of most money articles this Town Meeting, it was defeated by a minority vote. This Town Meeting was ruled by the minority. If someone should be reprimanded, perhaps it should be the minority of people who consistently voted against anything over 4%, regardless of merit.

Your editorial also sought to explain my motives for the Cardinal Cushing gym vote. Now, I'd like my turn. I had planned to vote against the sale for the simple reason that once a piece of property is sold, all controls over it are gone forever.

I'd like to see the possibility of renting the property explored. In uncertain financial times, a fine owner and good neighbor could be replaced by one detrimental to the area. I was also concerned that, with the reduction in the school budget and all but the high school remaining closed in the evening next year, where will the Community, Schools and Rec. classes be held? Now, with the passage of the study committee, we will have the answers by October Town Meeting. I will vote in accordance with its recommendation.

By the time I got to page 1, I was wondering if Mr. Finneran and I were at the same Town Meeting. It was an interesting piece of reporting. Obviously

Mr. Finneran felt very strongly about what he was writing but I had just read the editorial and didn't need an editorialized version in the news report section. I can only now refer people to the Lawrence Eagle Tribune's article of May 15 which was reported without opinion.

So, Mr. Finneran, as you prepare to attend your own Town Meeting next week in North Andover, I'd like to return the advice you gave to me. As I understood it, one should do one of the following:

Read the warrant carefully but don't go to Town Meeting.

Read the warrant, go to Town Meeting but don't vote.

Read the warrant, go to Town Meeting but don't vote on anything in which you have a special interest like your children.

Then, the editor of your local paper can comment on what a fine form of government Open Town Meeting is.

Reichhold Sales Up

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. has announced sales for the first quarter of $203,366,000, an increase of 14 percent over the first quarter of 1978. Net income for the quarter of $2,591,000 trailed 1978 first quarter results of $2,952,000, a decline of 12 percent. Earning per common share were 27 cents in 1979 compared to 32 cents for the first quarter of 1978.

"While the strong demand for RCI's products is encouraging," commented Peter J. Fass, president, "the failure of earnings to keep pace reflects sharply increased costs for energy and raw materials which have not as yet been recovered through price increases. We believe," he continued, "that a better balance between costs and prices can be achieved in the months ahead."

Dramatic Mile Relay Gives Warriors Northern Championship

The Andover High School Boy's Track Team won its most important meet of the season Saturday, at Eugene V. Lovely Field.

The Golden Warriors amassed 94 points to best Haverhill, who finished second with 81 points, and Methuen who finished third with 75, in a strong field of 37 teams.

The meet was a thriller all the way with only one point separating Andover and Haverhill going into the final three relay events, and with the outcome still in doubt until the final event, the mile relay. A superb anchor leg by Rip Williams gave Andover the victory.

In addition to Williams' outstanding performance, which also included a second in the 440 yard run, Andover's great 440 relay team sparked the team to victory. The 440 team of Paul Farnham, Mel Berger, Bob Wilkins and Noel Pizarro set a new meet record and equalled their school record with a blazing time of :43.7. Each member of the relay team also starred in individual events. Farnham won the triple jump, Berger the 100 yard dash and Wilkins the high jump. Pizarro ran a close second to New England champion Kevin Tarr of Methuen in the 220.

Also scoring in the meet for Andover were Bob Surret, with a third in the low hurdles; Kip Jones, a fifth in the high jump; Bill Lucey fifth in the javelin; Chris Poulsen, fifth in the pole vault; Wilkins, sixth in the 100; Sophomore Paul Reichert, with his best throw of the year, 138'4", a fourth in the discus, and the 880 relay team of Bob Flaherty, Lucey, Jones and Surret, third.

The real drama of the meet, however, was played by the mile and two-mile relay teams, which turned in second-place performances in both those events, far in excess of what had been expected of them, and proved to be the margin of victory for the team. Dave Hotham, Mike MacDonald, Jeff Barlow and Bob Milne in the two mile relay and Duane Dorsey, Eric Darby, and Ken Levanti, along with Williams in the mile relay, all ran the races of their lives and proved once more the importance of team and depth that have been the trademark of Andover's success in track down through the years.

In dual meet action last week the Andover girls upped their record to 7-2 with a 89-29 victory over Dracut while the boys also defeated Dracut 113-31.

On Saturday, May 26, the State Girls Class B Championships will be held here in Andover and on Monday, May 29, the Boys State Class B Championships will be held here at Eugene V. Lovely Field. In both meets the field events and running event trials will begin at 9:30 a.m., with running event finals listed for noon. Area track fans are urged to come out to both meets and support Andover's fine girls' and boys' track teams.

Hard-Hitting Dominates American Majors

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 24, 1979

Bats in the American Major Little League were hot during the third week of the season. The Red Sox in particular were torrid as they remained in a tie for first place with the Tigers.

Red Sox 14, Orioles 8

The Red Sox banged out 13 hits including 8 doubles as they beat in Orioles in an early season first place battle. The Red Sox erased an 8-4 deficit in the fourth inning with a 5 hit, 6 run rally. Red Sox doubles were hit by Eddie Melia, Peter Guschov, Mike DelTrecco, Jim Kochokian, rich Dunn (2), and Andy Thompson (2). Brian Finnerty and Bobby Stabile doubled for the Orioles. Melia also singled, Billy Dutton collected 2 hits and Tom Margerison for the Orioles had two singles. Dunn had 4 RBI's, Thompson had three and Dutton scored three runs.

Peter Guschov was the winner and pitched the complete game. DelTrecco played steady defense at third base.

White Sox 12, Yankees 11

The White Sox and Yankees played a strange game with the White Sox scoring 12 runs in the first two innings and the Yankees 10 runs in the last three. The Yanks actually scored the go-ahead runs in the last inning but the game was stopped due to darkness and the runs did not count.

The Yankees provided the big hits with Dave Doucette leading the way with a home run, double and 3 RBI's. Jamie Bernardin doubled for the White Sox. Neil Weaver, David Workman, Danny Sheehan and Dylan Callahan had 2 singles each for the White Sox and Paul Conlon had 2 Yankee hits. Bernardin, Workman and Weaver each collected two RBI's.

The winning White Sox pitcher was Chris Comparato who gave up only 2 hits in the first three innings. Yankee's pitcher Dave Doucette gave up only 2 hits for no runs for the last three innings.

Yankees 9, White Sox 7

The Indians were hard-luck losers as they out-hit the Yankees 6 to 4 but Yankee pitcher Dave Doucette pitched 2 hit ball over the last three innings and gave up only two runs and the Yankees managed to hold on to an early lead. Indian pitchers Paul Sheedy and Gary Bachinski deserved a better fare.

Indian hitters were Bobby Pothier with a double, and Bob Barnard, Jim Daly, David Nelson, David McDonough and Tim Perry all had singles. Brian Gibson, Doucette, Dave Moson and Paul Lambers had the Yankee hits.

Lance Kallfelz made a good catch in centerfield for the Yankees. The Indian's second baseman Jeff Smith also played very well.

Red Sox 15, Yankees 5

Red Sox pitcher Mike DelTrecco picked up his first win of the year as he pitched the first three innings and Billy Dutton, over the last three innings, pitched spectacular relief for the Sox allowing no runs.

The Yanks couldn't get started as the Sox jumped off to an 11-0 lead in the first two innings. The Sox collected 9 hits with doubles by Andy Thompson, Peter Guschov (2), and Rick Dunn. John Veilleux also singled and Billy Dutton collected two hits. Guschov and Dutton each had 2 RBI's and Dunn had 3.

Mike DelTrecco made a spectacular diving catch of a line drive in the latter part of the game at third base and turned it into an unassisted double play. Dave Dilling, Andy Thompson and Dave Doucette also played good defense.

Red Sox 11, White Sox 3

The Red Sox bats were finally cooled as they were held to 4 hits but they collected 14 walks from White Sox pitchers. Red Sox pitcher Rich Dunn went the distance for the win.

Andy Thompson doubled, Bob Charland (playing for the first time this year after an ankle injury) doubled, and Mike DelTrecco had two singles. For the White Sox Chris Comparato had 3 hits and 3 RBI's, David Workman had 2 hits and Jamie Bernardin picked up a single. Charland had 3 RBI's and Thompson had 2 RBI's.

Matt Burke and Jerry Nassif played very well in the outfield. The White Sox defense was spectacular as David Cox made a great catch in centerfield on a line

When he was born, if you had deposited $1000. into an 8 year term certificate on his 8th birthday he would have $1913.41. If you then re-invested that for another 8 years on his 16th birthday he would have $3661.33. Since he's not quite ready for college you could re-invest that for 2½ years so that when he's ready for college he'll have $4344.64 which would cover his expenses for the four years he's there. Of course that is only one plan. With the variety of term certificates available, you and your bank officer could plan an investment program that will suit your individual needs.

All deposits INSURED IN FULL under Massachusetts law.

The above plan is based on the effective yield when interest is left on deposit.

Americans eat twice as much food from glass jars as do all other countries combined. But concerned consumers should know that all glass jars and bottles are completely recyclable. Glass is also made from sand, one of the country's most abundant natural resources.

Organ

ecuted this week in the church by Crum, Kohl and Don Leroy, a master carpenter and member of the congregation. They earnestly nailed and screwed and glued and waxed hundreds of pieces in place all week, with hopes of having the organ operable by Sunday morning. Last week, the old electric organ having been removed, church accompanist Debbie Brown had to bang out the hymns on an upright piano.

The organ has more than 270 pipes which are controlled by the 54 keys on the keyboard. The organ also has five stops, knobs which determine what pipes are controlled by what keys. By pulling a stop, the organ player can change the sounds of the notes so they resemble the sounds of other instruments, such as the flute. The quality of a note is determined by the diameter of the pipe; the pitch is determined by the pipe's length.

In the Faith Lutheran Pilcher, the pipes range in length from eight feet to seven eighths of an inch. The longest pipes, which make the lowest sounds, are made from clear pine. The smallest and highest are made from a lead-tin alloy. The longer metal pipes are made from zinc because lead pipes of equal lengths would collapse under their own weight.

The organ also has 25 foot pedals which were added in the 1930's.

Crum said the home of the decline of baroque organs was Methuen. There, Ernest M. Skinner began experimenting with high pressure in the pipes, changing their shape and reversing their mouths, the holes the music comes out.

The movement away from baroque principles lasted only a generation, Crum said, before returning to the standards exemplified by the little Pilcher now in Faith Lutheran Church, standards which were deemed most important by organist E.

TOWN OF ANDOVER

PUBLIC HEARING

The Board of Selectmen of the Town of Andover will hold a public hearing on the application of George Chongris for approval of a Special Permit for the removal of material from a parcel of land on the westerly side of Blanchard Street at the Andover/Tewksbury Town line (pursuant to M.G.L. 40A, Section 9 and the Andover Zoning Bylaw Section VI E.) The hearing will be held Monday, June 11, 1979 at 8:00 P.M. in the Hall, Memorial Hall Library.

Contract

four per cent tax cap provisions.

"The town is giving a little more than it can afford in view of the tax cap provisions this year, Clark said, "but we must recognize the 8% to 9% inflation rate. This agreement represents a responsible increase to employees while staying close to the tax cap provisions and not placing an undue burden on the town."

He said he felt the union gave up more than it wanted to, "but it was comforting to see the firefighters willing to give in order to reach agreement. No one was belligerent during discussions and everyone was willing to make adjustments," Clark said.

There were 40 different items to be evaluated when negotiations began in January.

Two particular items in the agreement which Clark felt important were improved language for controlling sick leave, and agreement to change in work conditions to allow consideration of central dispatching.

The language clause is intended to prevent abuse of sick leave policy.

The central dispatching provision will allow the town to combine communications with the police and fire departments. Clark feels such a move would increase efficiency in both departments, and while it won't lead to a reduction in personnel, it will provide a cost avoidance and allow for better disbursement of public safety personnel.

Clark said that the union has some reservations about the proposed central dispatching, but through proper training in both police and fire departments, problems and concerns should be minimized.

Gull is a Celtic name that passed into English from the Cornish word, Gullan, referring to the bird's cry, which probably came from the Breton word, gwelan, meaning to weep or wail, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Senior League Standings Close

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 24, 1979

With just one week left in the season the standings in the 13-year-old league are very close. A brief write up of some of the games follows:

Red Sox 6, National 5

Mike Coelho doubled with two outs in the last of the seventh inning scoring Tom Brand with the winning run. Jim Wiseman bested John Sheedy in pitching the Red Sox to the win. Jeff Wolnik also hit a two bagger for the Sox, and Tom Brand scored three runs for the winners. Jon Crawford smashed a triple for the Nats. Greg McAnern and Bill Baldwin played will defensively.

Red Sox 11, Angels 3

Mike Coelho pitched a one hitter, fanning eighteen as the Red Sox beat the Angels. Rodney Hollenbeck supplied the big plunch with a home run and a double. Joey Fournier socked a triple and Jeff Wolnik doubled for the victors. Mike Gibson supplied the solo nit for the Angels and Ed Hardy was tabbed with the loss. Ted Staats played an outstanding game in the field for the losers.

Red Sox 14, Angels 12

The Red Sox with a seven-run fourth inning outlasted the Angels. Joey Fournier, Steve Dougal, and Paul Burke tossed for the Sox. Burke had three hits including a booming home run. Tom Brand and Mike Coelho also contributed to the win with their bats. Pat Martin and Jim Driscoll starred defensively for the victors. Mike Gibson and Bret Larrabee each doubled for the losing cause. Ted Staats, Tom Moon, and Rich Quintal supplied Angel hits. Gibson and Larrabee hurled for the losing team.

Jewelry To Jars

The Egyptians are credited with inventing manmade glass around 3,000 B.C. And although by the "boy king's reign (about 1335 B.C.), the use of glass was limited mainly to the creation of jewelry and ornaments, a technique had been developed to produce glass bottles. Those who could afford them — primarily the ruling class and priests — considered the glass jars, jugs and ointment cases as valuable as their jewels.

perience and knowledge could easily be the best financial insurance you can buy.

An attorney can be well worth his fee if he steers you clear of a single financial or legal pitfall.

Trying to play expert
by filling in the blanks
of standard deeds,
purchase and sales agreements, binders, or financial forms can easily backfire. Some of the biggest monetary losses have come about precisely in this manner.

Flanders Memorial Day Speaker

Capt. William M. Flanders, commanding officer of the Boston-based Coast Guard Cutter Hamilton, will be the principal speaker at Memorial Day exercises Monday at Memorial Auditorium, East Junior High school.

The principal exercises will be preceded by a four-division parade beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Elm Street, proceeding over Main street to Chestnut street to the auditorium.

Prior to the parade and principal service, Andover veterans' organizations will conduct memorial services at all Andover cemeteries beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Flanders, a U.S. Coast Guard academy graduate in 1956, has had a variety of seagoing assignments such as Atlantic weather patrol, hydrographic survey in the Arctic, coastal and deep sea buoy tending.

He is a veteran of the Vietnam war and is presently assigned to enforcement of fisheries and customs laws along the eastern seacoast.

His cutter was involved in the December seizure of 34 tons of marijuana.

Capt. Flanders is a resident of Abbot Bridge Drive. His daughter, Linda attends East Junior High and sons, David and Steven attend South school.

Commander Benjamin M. Brown of American Legion Post 8, will be master of ceremonies for the service. Rev. Reginald MacDonald of Andover Baptist church will deliver the eulogy and Miss Sarah Baun, representing Andover Girl Scouts will deliver the recitation of "Flanders Field." John McAllister, representing Andover Boy Scouts will give the "Gettysburg Address."

Following the address by Capt. Flanders, wreaths will be placed by Anita Jareckas of the Andover Post 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary and Virginia Flynn. Benediction will be by Rev. Joseph D. Keffer, OSA, of St. Augustine's parish. Taps will be sounded by Robert McKinley and Mark Easton.

Musical selection will be given by the Andover High school band and choir.

The four division parade which will include the Andover High and Elementary school bands, Lawrence Musicians Union band and the Clan MacPherson Bagpipe unit, will be led by parade marshalls, Patrick Flynn, VFW; Benjamin Brown, Legion and John J. Lewis, director of Veterans Services.

Town officials, police and fire department units, youth and civic groups will join Andover's veterans organizations in the parade and tribute.

Andover Post 8, American Legion will conduct memorial services at the Legion monument in Spring Grove cemetery at 7:30 a.m., at the G.A.R. monument there at 7:50 a.m. and at South church cemetery at 8:15 a.m.

Andover Post 2128, VFW will conduct services at West Parish cemetery at 7 a.m. and at St. Augustine's cemetery at 7:45 a.m.

At 8:30 a.m. participants will go to the Ballardvale Green for services at the War Memorial in recognition of Vietnam Veterans week.
